Booking & Cancellation Policy

Your place on the retreat is secured once your £100 deposit has been received. This deposit is non-refundable, as it allows me to confirm your place and accommodation and commit to the costs of running the retreat.

The remaining balance can be paid in full within 14 days of booking or through an agreed installment plan and this must be paid in full by 21 February 2027.

If you need to cancel

I completely understand that sometimes plans change. If you need to cancel your place, please let me know as soon as possible.

Your £100 deposit is non-refundable.

For any additional payments you have made, I will do my best to offer a refund if I am able to fill your place. Any refund will take into account costs that I have already committed to and cannot recover.

Cancellations made after 21 February 2027 may not be refundable, as by this point the retreat costs and arrangements will have been confirmed.

If you are unable to attend, you may be able to transfer your place to someone else, subject to prior agreement with me and suitability of the accommodation.

If I need to cancel

In the unlikely event that I have to cancel the retreat, any retreat payments you have made to me will be refunded in full.

Please be aware that any additional costs you arrange separately, such as travel or accommodation outside the retreat, are not included in the retreat booking. You may wish to consider appropriate travel insurance to cover these arrangements.

By paying your deposit, you confirm that you have read and agree to these booking and cancellation terms.
